“public place” includes any highway, market place, square, road, street, bridge or other way which is lawfully used by the public, and any place, including a building, to which the public are for the time being entitled or permitted to have access either without any condition or upon the condition of making any payment;

3. Prohibition of uniforms and flags in connection with political objects

(1) Subject as hereinafter provided, any person who in any public place or at any public meeting wears any uniform or displays any flag signifying his association with any political organisation or with the promotion of any political object shall be guilty of an offence:

Provided that—

(i) if an officer-in-charge of police or, in any place where there is no such officer, an administrative officer, is satisfied that the wearing of any such uniform as aforesaid on any ceremonial, anniversary, or other special occasion will not be likely to involve risk of public disorder, he may, by order in writing under his hand, permit the wearing of such uniform or any other uniform, in substitution therefor on that occasion, either absolutely or subject to such conditions as may be specified in the order;

(ii) a person shall not be guilty of the offence of wearing a uniform in a public place otherwise than at a procession or a public meeting unless he is at the time acting or purporting to act on behalf of a political organisation or in furtherance of a political object or is manifesting his adherence to a political organisation.

(2) Where any person is charged before any court with an offence against this section, no further proceedings in respect thereof shall be taken against him without the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions except such as the court may think necessary by remand, whether in custody or on bail, or otherwise to secure the due appearance of the person charged, so, however, that if that person is remanded in custody he shall, after the expiration of a period of twenty-one days from the date on which he was first remanded, be entitled to be discharged from custody on entering into a recognizance without sureties, unless within that period the Director of Public Prosecutions has consented to such further proceedings as aforesaid.

(3) The court before which any person is convicted for an offence under this section may direct that the uniform or flag in respect of which the offence has been committed shall be forfeited or destroyed.

[As amended by S.I. No. 66 of 1965]

4. Prohibition of quasi-military organisations

(1) If the members or adherents of any association of persons are—

(a) organised or trained or equipped for the purpose of enabling them to be employed in such a manner that such employment usurps or tends or appears to usurp the functions of the police or of the Defence Force; or

Provided that, in any proceedings against a person charged with the offence of taking part in the control or management of such an association as aforesaid, it shall be a defence to that charge for him to prove that he neither consented to nor connived at the organisation, training or equipment of members or adherents of the association in contravention of the provisions of this section.

(2) No prosecution shall be instituted under this section without the consent of the Director of Public Prosecutions.

(3) If, upon application being made by the Director of Public Prosecutions, it appears to the High Court that any association is an association of which members or adherents are organised, trained or equipped in contravention of the provisions of this section, the Court may make such order as appears necessary to prevent any disposition, without the leave of the Court, of property held by or for the association, and in accordance with rules of court, which the Chief Justice is hereby empowered to make, may direct an inquiry and report to be made as to any such property as aforesaid and as to the affairs of the association, and may make such further orders as appear to the Court to be just and equitable for the application of such property—

(b) in or towards the repayment of moneys to persons who became subscribers or contributors to the association in good faith and without knowledge of any such contravention as aforesaid;

(5) If a Judge or a subordinate court of the first class is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence against this section has been committed, and that evidence of the commission thereof is to be found at any premises or place specified in the information, he may, on an application made by a police officer, of or above the rank of assistant Superintendent, grant a search warrant authorising any such officer named in the warrant together with any other persons specified in the warrant and any other police officers to enter the premises or place at any time within one month from the date of the warrant, if necessary by force, and to search the premises or place and every person found therein, and to seize anything found on the premises or place or on any such person which the officer has reasonable ground for suspecting to be evidence of the commission of such an offence as aforesaid:
